STAT

The Physiological Training Division, Miramar NAS, is to be commended for its support of a training program conducted by and for officers assigned to this organization. Special recognition should be afforded PR2 Boyd L. Chisholm who served as safety diver throughout the four-day period, and to Mr. D. R. Norton, the Engineering Technician who operated the training device. These men provided competent and professional support and allowed for a safe and successful completion of the training program. The enthusiasm demonstrated by all of the personnel of the Aviation Physiology Section was gratifying and is a credit to both the individuals and the Unit. Please convey this organization's appreciation for a job well done.
